Four Edmond vocalists a part of religious CD

The Edmond community is honored with the selection of four local church soloists to an album of Oklahoma voices performing their favorite love songs. Kent Jones Productions, also of Edmond, announces the release of "Oklahoma Love Journey." The singers also tell their stories of why the songs are so meaningful to them. Jones set out to record Oklahoma's best church voices singing popular music. He contacted every church in the state. Fourteen vocalists were finally selected.

Jones, a state radio personality, is Master-of-Ceremonies on the live concert format album. "The compelling stories of the songs made each one so personal that they became part of the music. This CD is an evening people will enjoy. It's a musical journey across the love found in the state," Jones said.

The two hour, 2 CD set includes Edmond vocalists Alyssa Siler (First Presbyterian Church and who appears on the CD cover with her husband and daughter), Melissa Kamm (New Covenant United Methodist Church), Greg Bunton (First Christian Church) and Davis Cole (First Baptist Church).

"Their stories of the songs touched me and made me think; some of made me cry. It is much more than the music I started after. It captures your emotions," Jones explained.

The CD is available at Energy Force/Edmond, Charlie's Records/OKC, Loving Touch Mall/Yukon, Lasting Impressions/Shawnee, A Touch of Home/Woodward, and online at www.cdbaby.com.
